

ABSTRACT

A processor provides a configured clock rate setting for use by a peripheral set. The processor receives back from the peripheral set a feedback clock rate setting. The configured clock rate setting and the feedback clock rate setting are 5 compared to detect over-clocking of the processor.